Important Sanctioning Changes to Mark the Revolution Barrel Racing 2019 Season

Exciting times ahead in the sport of barrel racing

(TEXAS, Jan. 20, 2019) – Revolution Barrel Racing, is opening up the 2019 season with the introduction of a sanctioning platform. Select producers and events will be added throughout 2019 to grow RBR's reach within the United States. This will make the events bigger and allow more contestants the opportunity to run and chance to qualify for the Revolution Barrel Racing Finale, which paid out nearly $185,000 in its first year!

“Our main goal for RBR since its inception was to grow the sport of barrel racing and make it easy for contestants to enter and compete in high paying events,” said Stephanie Gilliam Ritchey, RBR Owner. “Our sanctioning platform will allow us to do just that.”

RBR had a combined year and finale payout of nearly $600,000 for 2018. Contestants can expect the 2019 Finale to have more added money and a larger payout. With a new website and logo, RBR is ready to hit the ground running.

“I know as a competitor it’s everything for a producer to do what they do for us,” said Nisa

Berry RBR’s 2018 1D Shootout Champion. “You guys are friendly. Everything works smooth and easy. It’s really fun.”

How to Become a RBR Producing Partner- To be considered for RBR producing partner status and sanctioning platform please contact admin@revolutionraces.com at least 30-days prior to your event.
